

Canadian Post-Secondary Institutions with TR and Related Offerings

NOTES:

- This list includes a wide range of programs from one year certificates to four year degrees. In some cases the programs are clearly TR based and in some cases they are more general recreation programs with as few as one TR specific course. Depending on where you live and where you hope to work, some of these programs may not meet the minimum requirements for employment in the field of TR. You are responsible for making an informed decision about what program meets your needs and maximizes your potential for employment. Your provincial/territorial TR organizations may provide you with additional information about educational requirements in your part of the country.
- CTRA does not in any way endorse any of these programs. This list is meant as a guide in helping interested individuals explore educational opportunities
- As curriculum is constantly being updated, CTRA can not guarantee the accuracy of any of this information. New programs are added and existing programs are revised and dropped. This is particularly true for distance education offerings.
- If there are any inaccuracies or omissions on this list please contact the Chair of the CTRA Educational Liaison Committee at parolin@siast.sk.ca
